Though the cloth is soiled and damaged it is part of the new cloth produced by the Hoon-Mills and as the Textile Commissioner gave permission to the Mill to sell it, obviously it appears that he held such cloth also to fall under the definition of 'cloth' in the Cotton Textile (Control) Order, 1948. The Provincial Textile Controller may therefore also treat this cloth which is about 20,000 yards or 16,000 lbs. as 'cloth' as defined in the Bombay Cotton Cloth Dealers Licencing Order, 1948 and grant exemption under clause 24 thereof in respect of the prohibition to sell it as contained in clause 4 thereof.
